

Windows Lab 4

By Jai Pandey (260840140011)

Question 1

Since we have already created Active directory, the LDAP records will be generated automatically, we just need to run

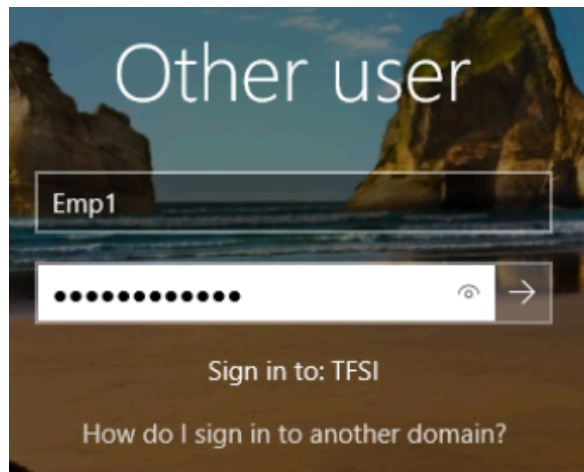

```
> ipconfig /registerdns
```

And we need to stop and start netlogin again, so we run

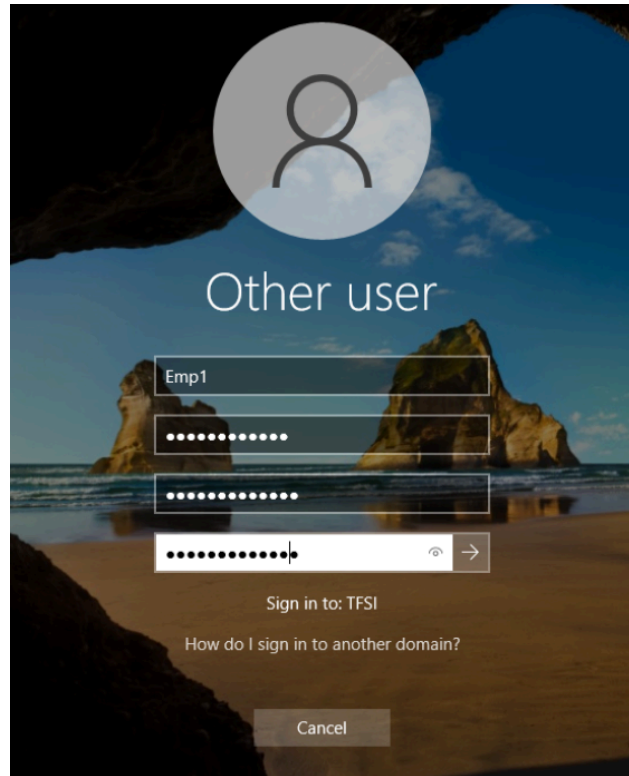

```
> net stop netlogon
```

```
> net start netlogon
```

Now we can login as the users that is part of the active directory.

The user will be prompted to create a new password.

Now we can successfully use this machine as an AD DC client machine.

